

Gilmerton House

New mains distribution system installed with rewiring carried out throughout building.

Gilmerton House is a Grade A listed Georgian Mansion situated in the heart of East Lothian, one of Scotland's most picturesque counties. The estate comprises of one thousand acres of which 100 acres are woodlands and walks.

Gilmerton House is not a hotel but a magnificent home owned by the Kinloch family, whose ancestors have lived there for twelve generations.

Works were carried out with minimum disruption to the client with power shut downs organised in conjunction with the routine of the house.

New mains distribution system installed with new Distribution boards located through out main house and out building. New emergency lighting and fire alarms system installed

